Is Completed

The 1954 Graduating Class, the largest Port Orford has ever had, put a wonderful climax to their twelve years of education. Being a highly talented and capable class, their assemblies and entertainments were very successful. For Sneak Day they took a trip up the Rogue (and by the way, all of them came back with sunburns), had dinner up at Coos Bay, and attended a movie. It was a truly a day never to be forgotten. After Baccalaureate the entire group had a steak dinner up at Tanglewood, and after Graduation they entertained their parents up at Castaway. These last events have put a memorable touch on their Senior year at Port Orford. (Not pictured with the above graduates is V. Decky Nelson.)

Class Officers

Baccalaureate

Tonight, we, the Class of 1954, are gathered together for the last time. So this is our farewell to each other, the teachers, and the school. It is also our thanks to our parents and friends.

The Half-Way Mark Has Been Reached

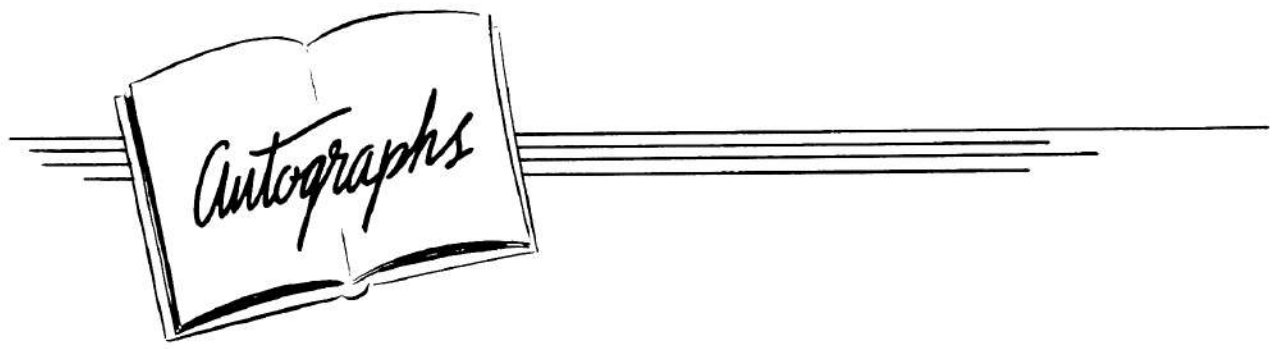

The Class of '56 had a wide variety of interests as is shown by their extensive participation in various activities. They were well represented in the fields of sports, music and scholastic ability. The events that the class took part in were the school assembly and a couple of skating parties. Four out of the seven pepsters were from the Sophomore Class.

But The Beginning

The Freshman Class is bubbling over with brains and enthusiasm. After surviving initiation they launch into their high school years with a vim that gives the impression that it will undoubtedly be one of Port Orford's most outstanding classes. They were well represented in band, in sports, and on the honor roll. Their evidence of so much school spirit also proves that they will be a credit to the school.

Hobby Club

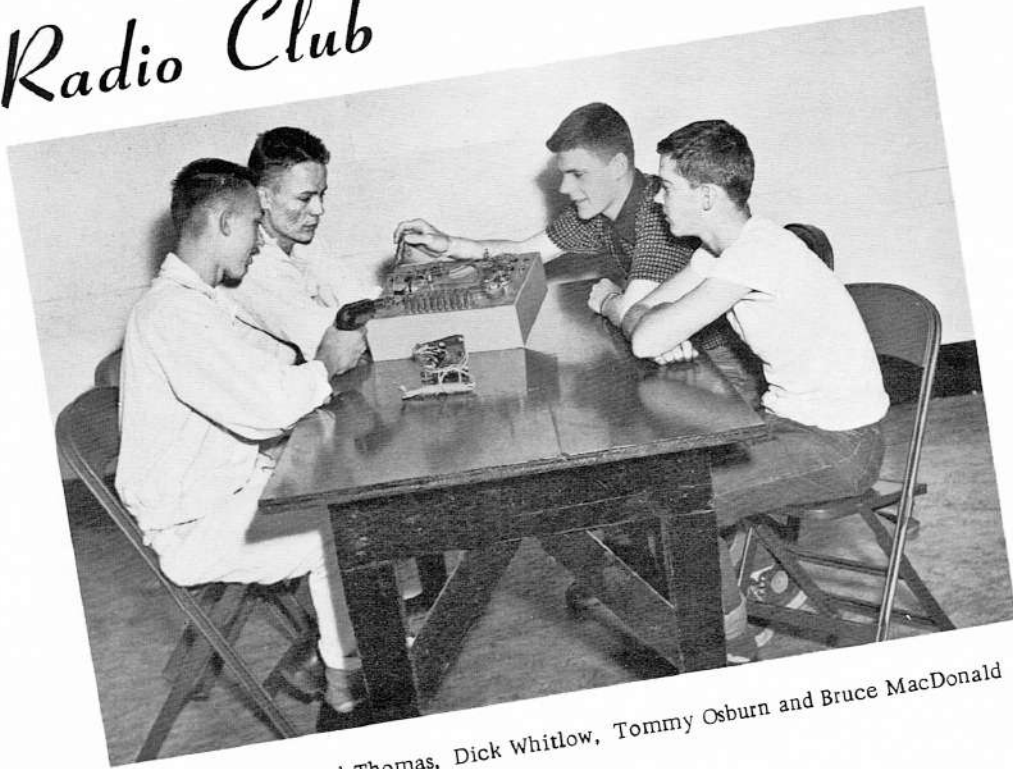

The Hobby Club (above), under the direction of Mr. Hansen, consisted of boys from grades seven through nine, who were interested in such things as model airplanes, mechanical gadgets, etc. The Chess Club (below), was newly organized this year by Mr. McCornack and was developed to stimulate an interest in the game of Chess.

The Radio Club (above) was thoroughly enjoyed by all of those who participated. Under the direction of Mr. Hansen, who was well experienced along this line, the boys learned the various phases of radio electronics.

From the Home Ec room Mrs. Stevens, Instructor, this year came delicious fragrances and an excess of laughter. In here the Homeliving girls (below) knitted slippers, embroidered towels, made aprons, experimented with various cooking recipes, and discussed the makings of a good home.

Band

Port Orford is very proud of its band, and they should be. It plays right along with the best of bands. In fact, it received a great ovation at the Southwestern Oregon Band Clinic.

This year's Spring Concert far surpassed all those of previous years. The numbers played by the band consisted of several novelty and swing tunes, plus a couple of overtures. One outstanding number was Badinage For Brasses, which proved to be very popular with the crowd at Coos Bay, as well as with those at Port Orford and Langlois.

The band lost six members this year, many of whom were with the original band five years ago. All six of these players were in key positions and the band will really feel their loss.

Undoubtedly, the band has been the most enjoyable of all the activities, and let's hope that it continues to be that way.

Father of Victory, featuring the Port Orford High School and Grade School majorettes. This entire group was directed by June Husky, a skilled baton twirler.

Concert Specialties

Lady Be Good, featuring Estelene Stevens and Wilbur Jensen on the dice.

St. Louis Blues, featuring Wilbur Jensen on the trumpet and Judy Marsh, doing an acrobatic number around the lamp post.

Blue Tango, played by the band and danced by Estelene Stevens and Neil Knapp.
